

chrome watchparty

ABOUT

There was a gap in the chrome extension offerings for an extension that covered a wide range of services and there was no transparency about the user data that was being collected.

My brother, Ayushya, and I discussed and did some research to indentify user needs to create a better co-watching experience.

Chrome WatchParty is differentiated because of: the wide range of streaming services it is compatible with, stores no data (all chat and party data is wiped every 24 hours), and voice chat is seamless across platforms.

While Ayushya led the development of the Chrome extension, I leveraged my consulting and ux skills to help design the website, the email, and provide advise on the extension's user interface.

Within a month, we hit our goal of 100 beta users and are tracking to launch in July 2020.

Request Beta & learn more at chromewatchparty.com